

Commercial Director – Huntingdon

Description

Our client is a specialist niche manufacturing business based in Huntingdon with a highly skilled team of 12 people and significant growth potential. The company operates within a specialist market where product quality, reliability, and strong customer relationships are key to continued success.

As part of the company's next phase of development, our client is seeking an experienced Commercial Director to lead both the commercial performance and operational effectiveness of the business.

The Role

Reporting to the business owners, the Commercial Director will take responsibility for driving revenue growth while ensuring the efficient day-to-day running of a small manufacturing operation.

This role requires a commercially focused leader who can combine strategic thinking with a hands-on approach. The successful candidate will identify new market opportunities, strengthen existing customer relationships, and lead a close-knit team as the business continues to grow.

Responsibilities

Commercial Leadership

- Develop and implement the company's commercial strategy to drive revenue growth and profitability
- Identify new markets, customers, and partnership opportunities within specialist manufacturing sectors
- Manage and develop key customer relationships
- Lead pricing strategy, contract negotiations, and margin improvement initiatives

Operational Management

- Oversee the day-to-day running of a small manufacturing operation (12-person team)
- Ensure efficient production planning, quality control, and on-time delivery
- Work closely with the production team to optimise processes and improve productivity
- Monitor operational performance, budgets, and key business KPIs

Team Leadership

- Lead, motivate, and develop a small but capable team
- Foster a collaborative and high-performing working environment
- Support recruitment and team development as the business grows
